About the Authors

Gertrude's Secrets was designed by Teri Perl, Ph.D., and programmed by Leslie Grimm, Ph.D. Dr. Perl, a leading mathematics educator, is a writer and designer of creative materials that help children learn mathematics and problem-solving. Dr. Grimm is the designer and programmer of many award-winning TLC games, including the Bumble and Moptown series. Both earned their doctorates at Stanford University.

The Learning Company is widely regarded as the pioneer in computer learning software. The company was founded by educational psychologist Dr. Ann Piestrup and the roots of the company remain grounded in educational theory. All TLC software programs are evaluated by its team of educational authorities and are extensively tested with children for their playful format and learning value. The company remains committed to providing children with software that teaches conceptual learning, logic and problem solving — skills that are needed for the computer age.
